LIFE ON THE FRONTIER.

A REVOLUTION IN MEXICO.

How it is Developed and Fostered Until the Projector's Aim is Accomplished.

[From Texas Sittings.]

In nine cases out of ten, the man or men who get up a revolution in Mexico are not Mexicans at all, but foreigners—Americans, Hebrews, Germans, or whoever the merchants doing business in the custom-house town may be. Allow me to introduce the dramatis personae who take parts in that highly entertaining farce entitled, "Latest News From Mexico."

Don Jacob Anybody—a foreign merchant doing business at the Port of Alguazil in Mexico.

General Jose Maria Sinvergienza—a professional revolutionist and experienced leader out of employment. He is a Lerdon man.

General Jesus de Bendejo—a perfect match to the foregoing in all particulars, except that he is for Diaz, and is in possession of the Justitia's sword.

Citizens, pelados (scum), riffraff, soldiers, God and Liberty, a few bushels of beans, Don Dinero, and other requisites—these are the elements of the revolution.

The whole matter is easily arranged. Don Anybody, the foreign merchant, who is obliged to pay duties at the custom-house, has become convinced that a local revolution is indispensable to the public prosperity, and his own, too. He has an interview with General Sinvergienza, who is found loafing about the saloons, or playing monte, at five cents a game.

The merchants tell him about the unconstitutionality of the claims of the present incumbent of the custom-house, how the sacred rights of the taxpayers are trampled under foot, how the present government is trucking to the Gringos, how the Mexican people are looking to him, Sinvergienza, as their champion, and how they are ready to follow him, if he will only lead them to the altar of Liberty.

Why does he hesitate to draw his sword and pronounce in favor of Liberty, or whatever may be the name of the president at the time?

General Sinvergienza replies that he would cheerfully waste about in gore if he only had the money to meet his traveling expenses. Don Anybody responds that he loves his adopted Mexican town, and that he will lead him to the altar of Liberty, if he will only lead him to the altar of Liberty.

But it is tedious to follow this mountain of废话, it is only a question of time when America will be left as treeless and barren as arid and Spain and Palestine.

A map, which accompanies this bulletin, shows the character of the fuel used in different sections of the country. According to this, coal is but little burned outside of the cities and the coal districts are only used for the generation, and condensing much valuable time that would be otherwise consumed in chasing a frisky heifer through a ten-acre lot.—Rome Sentinel.

AN EXCELLENT LINIMENT for neuralgia is made of saffron, oil of orange, and a half-ounce of tincture of capsicum, with half a pint in this mixture, wrap around the head, and then insert the head in a haystack till death comes to your relief.—Laramie Boomerang.

THE young lady of the adjective was standing on the depot platform the other day, casting wistful glances across the barren fields, sighed gloomily. "It is just really horridly awful mean that such charming, lovely young girls as I should be destroyed by the hateful glare of a scorching sun."—Hackensack Republican.

THERE are some dispensations of beneficent nature which are almost comprehended by the casual inquirer, and do not become very much plainer when carefully examined. One of them was remarked upon the other day by a young lady. "It is very curious," she observed, "although unaccountable, indeed, that the tortoise, from whom we get all our tortoise-shell combs, has himself no hair whatever."

WHILE the guards are being doubled around the palace of the Sultan, and the most experienced safe-builders are employed in constructing a bed chamber of chilled iron for the Ozar that cannot be opened without a knowledge of the combination, the gratifying news comes that the Governor's guard of Ohio is to be disbanded. How tranquil and secure is the life of an American potentate beside that of foreign rulers!—Cincinnati Saturday Night.

ON a New York Central Railroad car bound East, the other day, a newly-wedded party furnished much merriment for the other passengers by their incessant bugging and bawling. They had had an old married couple, the man would probably have crowded the wife close against the window, swore at the draughts of air, growled at accommodation trunks, and taken the woman to task for leaving behind articles that he had never mentioned before in his life.—Boston Globe.

AN INDIAN landlady writes demanding the name of the party who first suggested putting coils of rope in sleeping rooms as a protection against fire. He says he provided every bedroom in his house with a coil of rope, and the first night three of his guests lowered their heads from the sixth-story window and skipped, leaving several days' board bill unpaid. He allows that being burned to death is but a good deal worse.—Rochester Post-Express.

FASHION NOTES.

White Brittany lace and pink roses are becoming trimmings for dark green velvet bonnets.

Flush linings find greater favor than fur linings, that fatigue the wearer by their great weight.

Long, egg-shaped buttons with black passementerie cord are the trimmings for cloth redingotes.

Woven trimmings of white down are preferred to fur or chenille for trimming cloaks.

Cunningly-shaped little poke bonnets is a novel design for breakfast. It is made of tinted gold, and blue or red enamel is arranged like a ribbon around the miniature crown.

The most fashionable velvet bonnets are small capotes with puffed brim, lined with a cream-tinted ruche and trimmed with rosettes of ribbon ends cut out in sharp notches.

Passementerie cords with tasseled ends define the waist and drape the front of Watteau dresses. The box-pleat of the back is very wide and is made of brocade on satin dresses.

Chenille and silk piping cords plaited together to imitate twists are fashionable for small bonnets. A cluster of pompons in many colors like a bouquet is the trimming.

Sleeves have almost disappeared from the waists of evening dresses, but the arms are covered by kid gloves that reach from shoulders to wrists. The gloves match the dress in color.

A large rosette or bow of velvet ribbon, with a square or horse shoe buckle of Stucco, is worn on the left side of the dress just below the waist.

Crushed strawberry, carise, scarlet and garnet shades are worn with black satin dresses.

Dress suits for boys have a green velvet blouse and knickerbockers. A band of black velvet ribbon is passed around the short knee-breeches and tied in a bow on the outside seam. The long stockings are of black silk, and the low patent-leather buskins have a large velvet bow. The wide collar and cuffs are of white lace.

Wood as Fuel.

We burn more wood as fuel, the Census Department finds, than we use as lumber. A former bulletin reported the cost of lumber in the United States at $18,001,886,000, and the cost of wood at $283,367,729, which required the deforesting of 6,000,000 acres of land.

Forestry Bulletin No. 33 shows that the amount of wood consumed annually is 145,778,137 cords, worth $291,393,373, and leaving here 7,000,000 acres of territory. In other words, we draw on our forests annually for wood to the value of $554,830,102, and the amount consumed annually is 145,778,137 cords, worth $291,393,373, and leaving here 7,000,000 acres of territory.

But it is tedious to follow this mountain of废话, it is only a question of time when America will be left as treeless and barren as arid and Spain and Palestine.

WIT AND WISDOM.

IT is a great consolation to see a plumber compelled to buy something at a retail drug store.—Phila. Times.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN said: "He that takes a wife takes care." Not if he takes care when he takes her.—Norristown Herald.

WE do not care whether the French banish Prince Napoleon or not. As he knows no English he can't come over here and lecture.

IN BURMAN an editor receives elephants in payment of subscriptions. There being no elephants in this country, most people pay in trade dollars.

SOME genius has invented a machine to play pianos. This will give American girls a chance to help mother hang out the clothes on Monday afternoons.

ON a GARDENER.

"He'd always built a scaffold when he went to hang a dog. And he would never set a house, until he'd cellar'd it."

A LITTLE girl was walking along the street the other day, when she saw a very bow-legged man with a short coat on. "Oh, ma!" she cried, "there's a man with a tunnel under him!"

WHEN the papers speak of the infant industries of the country they don't mean sticking the toes in the month or biting upon rubber rattles, although those are the principal industries of the infants.

A BRIDE complained to her husband that she had been too busy all day to get off her feet once, and that unhappy man, who had already discovered several make ups in her construction, exclaimed in amazement, "Great heavens, do they come off, too?"

SAM a poet to an unfortunate spelunker. "Don't you think that the opening lines of Tennyson's little poem, 'Break, break, break,' are plaintive and sad?" "Yes," was the melancholy reply; "but I think that 'Break, broke, broke!' is a good deal sadder."

A POOR Irishman offered an old saucer for sale. His children gathered around him and inquired why he parted with it. "Ah, my honey," answered too old to be so inquisitive, "I don't know, but it but for a little money to buy something to put in it."

A DISTRESSING accident occurred in St. Louis last week, some friend throwing a large stone into the local river, and a daily paper and a season's wandering several columns. The brigadier-general in the adjoining apartment fortuitously escaped injury.—Chicago Tribune.

A LITTLE girl, who was exceedingly touchingly testified to the excessive drudgery of her mother's life when, on being asked, "Is your mamma very busy?" she replied, "I don't know, but I think that 'Break, broke, broke!' is a good deal sadder."

A FANT item remarks that in fly time cows should be kept in stalls. This is for the convenience of the fly, increasing the opportunity for conversation, and condensing much valuable time that would be otherwise consumed in chasing a frisky heifer through a ten-acre lot.—Rome Sentinel.

T. J. Whitehead has been taking orders for Nursery Stock in Franklin Co. since Nov. last. He will be at his home and in this vicinity the week of the annual March meeting, and will be pleased to take all orders for fruit, small fruit, shrubs, roses, etc. He tells more about it in another column.

The winter school in dist. No. 3 taught by Miss Nellie Andrews closed Friday of last week after a very successful term of eleven weeks. The registered and average attendance has been large, and those who have visited the school speak in high terms of the teacher and pupils.

Elder Webber, President of the Maine State Health and Temperance Association addressed the Reform Club last Sunday evening on the subject of temperance. He took a text and preached a strong, straight forward sermon. He gave his interpretation of the kinds of wine referred to in the scriptures, and explained those quotations which are often used to show that wine drinking was permitted and even sanctioned in Israel. He made a strong argument in showing that there were two kinds of wine referred to in Bible times. There was a good attendance and all present were much interested in the address.

P. B. Buck will sell at auction March 24th, his farm situated in Greenwood. See ad.

Saturday we visited North Waterford in company with Dr. Tilton. We went for the fun of it and enjoyed the ride very much. The day was warm and comfortable and the snow gave or "rod" for the second time during the winter. From the junction barn to the Corner the snow "cruel" a little too much and the horse would often slump. We found the village very much the same as when last there, by climbing a very steep and somewhat dangerous hill. A hotel and church, two stores and a post office and twenty houses or so made the greater part of it. Under the hill is Samuel Smith's tannery, the grist mill and saw mill. Crockett River furnishes power. Messrs. Elliott & Bartlett's wool factory is located some two miles from here, just in the edge of Albany. Mr. Elliott has, at the Corner, a very pretty house, with neat looking porches over the doors. At the factory he employs many hands and is turning out a large number of goods per day. Spool linen is in good demand and a good price is paid. The Forrest House is kept by J. F. Rice and is the same as of old, well kept. Dr. F. C. Clark is the resident physician. Norway is the shipping point for this section of Waterford, Stoneham and Albany. All of the freight comes through our village. The greater part of it is handled by H. I. Kosher, who has a large stable at the Corner and is proprietor of Mosher Hall. We returned home early in the evening much pleased with our ride in Dr. Tilton's old fashioned sleigh, which we found to be very comfortable. The heavy stage bells included.

The Maine Board of Agriculture will hold a Farmers' Institute at Grange Hall, Norway, Wednesday, March 7th. There will be a convention of the blacksmiths of this county at the Elm House next Wednesday at 11 o'clock, a. m. to form a schedule of prices for shoeing for the county. It is hoped that all the blacksmiths may be present. Those who are unable to come are requested to write their views relative to making a new list of prices and to signify their approval of what the convention may decide.

The members of Harry Rust Post No. 54, G. A. R. held a camp fire by daylight in Grange Hall last Friday. The ladies were present—the soldiers wives and daughters—and some others. We came under the head of the latter class. Dinner was served from 12 o'clock until two. Many a battle-scarred veteran was called in and fed most bountifully with baked beans, brown bread, hard tack, cake, etc. There was an abundance of hot coffee. A literary entertainment, with songs and music followed. Many indulged in speeches and toasts. The ladies are to make a quilt containing 100 squares, and this quilt is to be given to the comrade that brings in the most recruits to the Post in the next three months. It is hoped that a large accession may be made to the Post.

Calico ball at Norway Hall Monday evening, March 5th. Town meeting night. Norway orchestra 8 pieces will furnish music. Tickets for $1.00 per couple. Supper at Best Hotel 50 cents each. Reduced rates on G. T. R. R. Free carriage from depot in Norway. You are invited. No expense is to be spared to make this the greatest event of the season, so says the mammoth posters.

The Advertiser list is constantly increasing, and what is very gratifying is that the most of our subscribers are in advance. We send the paper three months on trial for 25 cents to new subscribers.

We have to thank Congressman Dingley for a copy of the Report of the Commissioner of Agriculture for 1881 and '82. The Department report contains over 700 pages and is replete with tables, maps, plates and interesting statistics. As the design of the work is to instruct the public and the farmer in particular we shall be pleased to lend our report to any who may be interested in it. The veterinary division and the report of the entomologist is of special interest.

Alden Chase, esq. of Bryant's Pond is having some books bound by Robert Noyes, esq., of this village. Mr. Chase has a complete set of Robinson's almanacs and some forty years of Thomas's almanacs bound.

Water made its appearance on the ice at the upper privilege Saturday.

Running a race Saturday was considerably exciting. Ten dollars was the purse against any horse in O. M. Cummings' stable. This amount of money said that James Sawyer's white horse would beat. Chas. I. Fogg held the money. S. Norman Buck rode the Cummings horse and Sawyer was the jockey on his own. The Cummings horse won the race and money. Time not stated. Track Main Street. Landlord Warren made a V. though he stood a chance of losing a ten spot. He bet on the winning horse.

The following ladies are on the committee to get up the quilt, which is to be given to the comrade who gets the most recruits for the Harry Rust Post in the next three months: Mrs. A. Oscar Noyes, Mrs. J. R. Sanborn, Mrs. F. M. Noyes, Mrs. Frank Cox, Mrs. Lorena Hobbs, Mrs. E. W. Sawyer, Mrs. J. F. Fitz, Mrs. Cyrus S. Tucker, Mrs. James Crockett, Mrs. Chas. Buck, Mrs. E. H. Brown is president of the Quilt Association. The quilt is to contain 100 squares and each square will have as many names upon it as there are persons who can be induced to pay ten cents. The money to go into the G. A. R. treasury.

At the opening benefit at Norway Hall Tuesday evening, Feb. 19th, the hall was well filled, about 600 being present. The entertainment was very creditable for an amateur affair and the directors under whose auspices the entertainment was given certainly have reason to feel satisfied. They received about $125 above expenses. It was mostly given by "home talent" assisted by Mr. D. Moulton and Miss Hattie Weeks of Portland. O. W. Collins, principal of the Norway High School, made some opening remarks and explanations, after which every number of the following program was well executed: Reading, D. Moulton—"Wm. Brown of Oregon"; Solo, Miss Fannie Howe—"My Solilo"; Piano Solo, Miss Grace M. Clement—"Witches Dance"; Solo, Miss Hattie Weeks—"Waiting"; Reading, S. Alma Penfold—"Selected"; Reading, D. Moulton—"A Deception"; Violin Solo, Miss Mamie C. Ames—"Fantasia on Scene de Bull"; Reading, O. W. Collins—"The Martyr"; Solo, Miss Nellie Stuart—"Silent Night"; Singing, Duet, Miss Hattie Weeks and G. W. Horne—"The Pale Moon"; Solo, Miss Hattie Weeks—"The Arrow and the Song"; Reading, D. Moulton—"Hunting a Mouse." In addition to this program the Norway Orchestra gave three selections. Mrs. H. L. Horne was pianist. Every one was pleased with Miss Weeks' singing. She has a melodious voice, and her songs were in taste for the occasion. The duet by Miss Weeks and Mr. Horne was finely rendered. Miss Howe sang in her usual pleasing manner and received a hearty encore. She was dressed in a pretty pale-pink costume trimmed with white. Miss Nellie Stuart sang very prettily. She is only a child, yet she has a remarkably clear and powerful voice. One wonders while hearing her sing how so frail a child can have such a voice. "Witches Dance" by Miss Clement was warmly enjoyed and she responded with "Robert Adair." Miss Ames' violin solo seemed to be appreciated, for though it was quite long she never tired. She was accompanied by Mrs. Ames on the piano. Miss Penfold gave a humorous selection which was well received. Mr. Collins' rendition of "Katie the Martyr" was a clever bit of acting and would do credit to a professional reader. It was the first time Mr. Moulton had read here, and in his first reading his audience was hardly prepared to like him, but however they soon learned to do. He was the funny man of the evening and his readings were much enjoyed, perhaps none more than his last "Farwell Brother Clifford."

The following is the program of the Grand Concert at the dedication of Norway Hall next Monday evening: Germania Band of Boston: 1. March, "Castles in the Air"; 2. Mazurka, from Robert le Diable; 3. Pizzicato Solo, "Katie"; 4. Selections from Lohengrin; 5. Valse di bravura, "Claret oblige"; 6. Duet from Linda di Chamounix, Donizetti; 7. Song for Cornet, "Good Night"; 8. Selections from Lohengrin; 9. Cornet Solo, "Claret oblige"; 10. As the Misses Carrie and Ella Sweet with their brother and Miss Penfold were returning to this village from Paris recently, the sleigh came so near capsizing that two of the party suddenly found themselves in a large and beautiful snow bank.

St. Nicholas for March has a notable list of contributors. Archibald Forbes furnishes a vividly interesting story of the "Turco-Russian War," entitled "Give us the Villagers" in the "Letter Box" is a pen-and-ink sketch of Mr. Forbes by Hubert Herkimer. Rose Fort Cooke contributes a capital story of the Michigan Indians, "The Field of the Cloth of Gold." E. Hale tells how "Mrs. Peterkin Faints on the Great Pyramid." "That Sly Old Woodchuck" is an American boy story by W. O. Skiddard and Miss E. Hale tells how "Mrs. Peterkin Faints on the Great Pyramid." E. S. Brooks finishes his four-part story of "The Field of the Cloth of Gold." Besides the foregoing are stories, sketches, poems and pictures.

Mr. G. A. Hanson, of the firm of Campbell & Hanson, publishers of the Lovell Morning Times, and Mrs. Hanson made us a very pleasant call Tuesday morning. They are at present enjoying a pleasure trip, and are stopping a few days at South Paris. Mrs. Hanson is a niece of Judge Desiring. We at present are not acquainted to her, but they think of spending a few weeks with us next summer.

The Opening Drama "Still Waters run Deep" in three acts, will be given at Norway Hall this Friday evening. This drama will be followed by the play "The Slasher and Crasher." The cast in the drama and farce, as may be seen by the dodgers, is such that success is insured, and no doubt it will be a fine dramatic entertainment. Every one, who can, should attend. Admission 25c. Tickets for sale at Crockett's Drug Store.

The Germania Band of Boston give a concert in Norway Hall next Monday evening. See posters. Dance to follow.

Drama this (Friday) evening at Norway Hall.

"What time is it Sam?" We have noticed several times a noble by turnout on our streets. It is quite a large black dog harnessed in a pretty little sleigh. He trots along with his head and seems to enjoy it as much as the children.

Mr. W. A. Carlton, special agent of the Traveler Ins. Co., is in town. Read the promised ad, and if you are to carry an accident or life policy speak to Mr. Freeland Howe, resident agent.

Norway Hall will be formerly dedicated by a grand Concert and Ball next Monday evening, Feb. 26th. Gallery tickets for sale at Crockett's Drug Store. All seats reserved. Dance and supper $2.50 per couple.

We receive a copy of the Weekly Missouri of Montana Territory, through the courtesy of Mr. S. R. Knowland, foreman of the cutting room at the shoe factory. Typographically the paper is very much above the average of western newspapers. It is of the same size of the Advertiser and its subscription price per year is $4.00 instead of $5.00. Single copies are sold at 10 cents each. The Missouri is ten years old and we should judge that the paper they thought to make money as the advertising rates are high or a one inch card one year $16.00. This paper has a large advertising patronage.

A portrait of Gambetta is in the March Century, and an accompanying article by a writer who was intimately acquainted with Gambetta. One of the numerous interesting anecdotes related to the not over-scrupulous manner in which Gambetta's mother, who was ambitious for her son, outwitted the stubborn father, who wished his son to succeed him in business. An excellent portrait of the father shows a man of strong will and eccentric character. Mrs. Runkle's plea for the higher education of women, apropos of the recent petition for the admission of women to Columbia College is called "A New Knock at an Old Door." John Burroughs, in "Signs and Seasons," chats charmingly of country life and makes some opening remarks and explanations, after which every number of the following program was well executed: Reading, D. Moulton—"Wm. Brown of Oregon"; Solo, Miss Fannie Howe—"My Solilo"; Piano Solo, Miss Grace M. Clement—"Witches Dance"; Solo, Miss Hattie Weeks—"Waiting"; Reading, S. Alma Penfold—"Selected"; Reading, D. Moulton—"A Deception"; Violin Solo, Miss Mamie C. Ames—"Fantasia on Scene de Bull"; Reading, O. W. Fruit Growers Attention.
Secure your best Investment in the Spring of '83.
The undersigned having taken several hundred acres for Nursery stock in Franklin Co. since the 1st of Nov. last work has been in this vicinity that he will best use home and vicinity during the week of the next March meetings, and as he intends to set again this season several hundred fruit trees, small fruits, shrubs, etc. who are specially selected orders from those who desire to secure the best, he is now offering them at a low price. Patrons are assured that he will get as good stock as any grower in the State, and he is willing to give them the benefit of their money. The demand for good apple trees is now greater than the supply. Prices will rise much higher or next year and setting trees this spring will bring you even more profit than last year. T. J. WHITEHEAD.
